Let me see if I got everything right with Bendy and the Ink Machine. Bendy is a cartoon character from either the 1920's or early 1930's. The main character comes back to the animation studio Bendy was made in 30 years after he stopped making cartoons. However, Bendy appears to have gained sentience and is so lonely after being left alone for decades, that he has gone even madder than he was in his cartoons. Is that assumption correct?

I was going to ask as well if they had an MMD version lol. Though I don't think they will. The closest thing we have right now is the TDA models.
